

Forest of October

Opeth

The memories that now rests in this forest
Forever shadowing the sunrise of my heart
Wings leave their nest at my coming
Swaying away to the cold glowing sky
Dreaming away for a while
My spirit sighs in peace
Gazing unto the stars
Please take me there
I am so alone, so cold
My heart is too scared to glow
I wish the sunrise to come
Take my soul from this cold
Lonely shell, I am free
From the eternal sea, I rose
Veiled in darkness on either shore
Lost my pride, lost its glow
For me the sun rose no more
The forest of October
Sleeps silent when I depart
The web of time
Hides my last trace
My blaze travel the last universe
Like the sights of magic
Wrapped in aeons
My mind is one with my soul
I fall alone while leaves fall
From the weeping trees
