

Reagan's Skeleton

Yeasayer

Tavern in hole outside of Ventura
When low and behold, found a beauty
Said i never seen a redhead crumble just like that She sat outside, got something to see We walked a quiet road for miles at first
Couldn't see a thing
The rattle from the dark chills up my spine coming from the trees Oh, thats Reagan's skeleton in the moonlight
Don't fear the red eyes, fear the satelites overhead
That's Reagan's skeleton, marching our way
Sentimental violence, leading their zombies up ahead
Thats Reagan's skeleton in the moonlight
Don't fear the red eyes, fear the satelites overhead
That's Reagan's skeleton marching our way
Sentimental violence, leading their zombies in a fog eternally Must've passed out when i came to, i'm tied up
To my surprise by a young lady
As her face grew sick, her nails tore round my heart
Blood trickled down, economically The laughter from the dark was low at first
But became good company
I recognize the stench of burning flesh as they began to feed. Oh, on Reagan's skeleton in the moonlight
Don't fear the red eyes, fear the satelites overhead
That's Reagan's skeleton, marching our way
Sentimental violence, leading their zombies of undead
Thats Reagan's skeleton in the moonlight
Don't fear the red eyes, fear the satelites overhead
That's Reagan's skeleton marching our way
Sentimental violence, leading their zombies in a fog eternally Oh the horror, what an awful way to fall in love
Oh the horror, what an awful way to fall in love That's Reagan's skeleton in the moonlight
Don't fear the red eyes, fear the satelites overhead
That's Reagan's skeleton, marching our way
Sentimental violence, leading their zombies up ahead
Thats Reagan's skeleton in the moonlight
Don't fear the red eyes, fear the satelites overhead
That's Reagan's skeleton marching our way
Sentimental violence, leading their zombies in a fog internally

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>