Is He Treating You Good?

Jerry Leger

Is he treating you good
Is he treating you kind
Does he wait at your door step
Give you all his time
Is he close the way you want him
Or is he walking behind
Oh, is he treating you kindIs he dancing you special
Dancing you slow
Does it feel like a moment
You never want to go
Is he asking for anything
You ain't afraid to show
Oh, is he dancing you slowI thought of the kind of morning
That happiness brings
I never really knew
It could be such a lonely thing
I wondered if you were happy
That times had gone wrong
Or if your knew city smile
Was just painted onIs he there every dinner
There every night
Waits for your decisions
Does nothing for spite
Breaks down all his walls
Gives you every right
Oh, is he there every nightI never could be the one
There for every dream
Every falling tear
Anytime you need
I was just the kid
With the suicide doors
Lovely you sweetly
Always wanting moreIs he treating you good
Is he treating you kind
Does he wait at your door step
Give you all his time
Is he close the way you want him
Or is he walking behind
Oh, is he treating you kind

Oh, is he treating you kind
