Useless

Imogen Heap

I am a mirror with no reflection
I am a razor without my blade
I am the daylight when the moon shines no
Who will want to make my sand castle that's already made
I feel so useless, do you?
Speak to an ear, deaf to my voice
Look through your fear, still blind to my way
I reach to hold you but I don't feel you there, do you?
Even realize I'm here, am I just wasting away?
No, wasting away, living, inside you play
I feel so useless, do you?
And I feel so useless, do you?
My dying prayer, sealed in a scream
Unwelcome, and a conscious dream
I am your whore, without a name
I climb to fall, to begin again
To begin again, to begin again
I climb to fall, to begin again

To begin again, to begin again
I climb to fall, to begin again
To begin again, to begin again
To begin again
To begin again, to begin again
I am an arrow with no direction
My life your tarot, my picture your fate
I'm your becoming, so I'll always be nothing
If I ever break away from you that day forth
You'll be living my hate
Oh God, help his fate
I'll watch you, watch you suffocate
And I feel so useless, do you?
And I feel so useless, do you?
And I feel so useless, do you?
And I feel so useless, useless
Useless, useless

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/