

To Love Again

Jonny Lang

I'd been sleeping way too long
Searched for the answers but,
Couldn't find one
Thought I had it under control
Yeah I was dying I didn't even know I needed something
You showed me how to love again
How to love again
When I had nothing
You showed me how to love again
How to love again No more crying, no more fear
I've found a way out after all these years
No mistaking, I've been changed
Now and forever I'll never be the same Because when I had nothing
You showed me how to love again
How to love again
I needed something
You showed me how to love again
How to love again Don't want to go back
Don't want to go through that misery
I love where I'm at Wherever you are I want to be
You're all I need I needed something
You showed me how to love again
How to love again
When I had nothing
You showed me how to love again
How to love again
