

Prostitute II

The Wolfgang Press

Allen - Cox

Prostitutes... the spice of life

Prostitutes are the spice of life, the spice of life

Look back on the course

Love away

What you need in easy chairs and easy beds

All night long

Take me for a ride

In the back of your car

If you don't like the taste

Light another cigarette

Light another cigarette

Clear as crystal safe as houses

What you need is what you get

Learn to live learn to forget

Traffic light says Go Stop Go

In the back of your car you dress so nice

Blue and red and yellow, stripes and checks

Under the pale blue moon

Strapped.

Unheralded flesh.

Prostitutes the spice of life

Prostitutes are the spice, the spice of life

The candlesticks and the candlelight and the candlesticks and the candlelight and the candlesticks Michael Allen: Bass, Voice, Percussion, Synthesizer

Mark Cox: Clarinet, Piano, Synthesizer, Chimes, Percussion, Pixiphone
