

Evaporated

Ben Folds Five

What I've kept with me
And what I've thrown away
Don't know where the hell I've ended up
On this glary, random day
Were the things I really cared about
Just left along the way
For being too pent up and proud Woke up way too late
Feeling hung over and old
And the sun was shining bright
I walked barefoot down the road
Started thinking about my old man
It seems that all men
Wanna get into a car and go
Anywhere Here I stand, sad and free
And I can't cry, I can't see
What I've done
No God, what have I done Don't you know I'm numb, man
No I can't feel a thing at all
'Cause it's all smiles and business
These days
And I'm indifferent to the loss
I've faith that there's a soul somewhere
That's leading me around
I wonder if she knows
Which way is down Here I stand, sad and free
And I can't cry an' I can't see
What I've done
No God, what have I done I poured my heart out
I poured my heart out
It evaporated, see Blind man on a canyon's edge
Of a panoramic scene
Maybe I'm a kite that's flying high and random
Dangling a string
Or slumped over in a vacant room
Head on a stranger's knee
I'm sure back home
They think I've lost my mind Here I stand, sad and free
I can't cry 'n' I can't see
What I've done

Oh God, what have I done?
