

The Victim

Pat Benatar

You've been set up one too many times
A perfect victim for the perfect crime
You left yourself wide open to the pain
So close your eyes now, you're out walkin' in the rain
You've got a burning desire to be the victim
You're bleeding from the soul, you're hurting from the heart
Things you can't be told are gonna tear you apart
Your choice of lovers, never very bright
Your father worried, but even he gave up the fight
You always think their hearts are made of gold
And you're the savior, to coax the warmth out of the cold
You've got a burning desire to be the victim
You're bleeding from the soul, you're hurting from the heart
Things you can't be told are gonna tear you apart
'Cause you're the victim
Break the pattern, you've gotta break away
Break the pattern before it gets too late
You've got a burning desire to be the victim
You're bleeding from the soul, you're hurting from the heart
Things you're never told are gonna tear you apart
'Cause you're the victim

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>