

One Good Piece of Me

Big Wreck

Love, the final straw
Keep me sifting through my words to find my thoughts
You were more than my whole world, its all too real
As I'm falling through the halls inside your heart
That I could no longer fill Every little piece you take from me I can always regrow
The blood I gave, the love we made, was only there for show
If there's one good piece of me left, I swear, itt's mine and mine alone
I suppose everybody goes through this alone
Hope is a risky deal,
As I'm running through my modes, and try to heal
Try to rebuild my whole world, piece by piece
Never want for what I lack, down the track
Little satchel on my back Every little piece you take from me I can always regrow
The blood I gave, the love we made, was only there for show
If there's one good piece of me left, I swear, itt's mine and mine alone
I suppose everybody goes through this alone. When the feelings gone, I know my right from wrong
It's been so long, my reflections gone away from your eyes
My reflections gone away from your eyes.
Every little piece you take from me I can always regrow
The blood I gave, the love we made, was only there for show
I suppose everybody goes through this alone.
If there's one good piece of me left, I swear, it's mine and mine alone
If there's one good piece of me left, I swear, it's mine and mine alone. Love, the final straw. Got me sifting through my words, to find my thoughts.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>