Turn So Cold

Drowning Pool

It's too much, not enough, what you need I don't get
I don't know why you never say, you never do
Is this my luck again? Silent words never shed
All I get is you turning away
You turn so cold, it's never enough, it's always too much
For what you never say, what you never go
And say you're so cold, it's never enough, it's always too much
For what you never say, never do, never say
Is it me that you see changing what you think you need?
All I can say is I'll always trade me for you
Is it my heart I break, hard to give what you won't take?
If you did would you throw it away?
And turn so cold , it's never enough, it's always too much
For what you never say, what you never go

And say you're so cold, it's never enough, it's always too much
For what you never say, never do, never say
Our time is slipping away, slipping away
Isn't my word enough? What I say is what you get
And all I get is you turning away
You turn so cold, it's never enough, it's always too much
For what you never say, what you never know
And say you're so cold, it's never enough, it's always too much
For what you never say, never do, never say
Our time is slipping away, slipping away
And all I get is you turning away
