

Mina Loy (M.O.H.)

Billy Corgan

The siren calls outside
They want to kill us all
Innocents, wounded souls
Full of rage Nowhere to go
Consequences be they may
I resolve to never change
I so vow to never yield Can I give my old heart to you?
Can I give my old heart to you?
'Cause when this feeling starts
That's when I blow it all away Here, you're born, they'll say
To die afraid, to lie awake It's plain the wars have won
The days of judgment rise
Innocents, wounded souls
How could they know they're burning cold? Paranoias be they may
I resolve to never change Can I give my old heart to you?
Can I give my old heart to you?
Can I give my old heart to you?
'Cause when this feeling starts
That's when I rip it all apart Alright! The end's in sight
We're born to die one thousand times I'm just one wish away
I'm just one wish away from you kid
I'm just one wish away
I'm just one wish away from you kid I'm not so innocent
I'm not so innocent now kid Can I give my old heart to you?
Can I give my old heart to you? My old heart
My old heart
My old heart
My old heart

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>