

Shroud of Frost

Anathema

Undying odyssey
A myriad of times
The soul has seen
Through eyes of heavenThe Imperium of earth
Nothing left to perceive
Help me to escape from this existence
I yearn for an answerCan you help me?
Iâ'm drowning in a sea of abused visions and shattered dreams
In somnolent illusion
I'm paralysedInfinity distraction
A pious human disorder
Blind to passage of souls
Conclusion from one remembranceHelp me to escape
Transfixed
I gaze through my window at a world lying under a shroud of frost
In a forlorn stupor I feel the burning of staring eyes,Yet no-one is here. Detached from reality,
In the knowing of dreams,
We know the entity of ensuing agony waits to clasp us in its cold
Breast, in an empty roomWe awake and it's true
I dreamed of the sun's demise, awoke to a bleak morning
In the emptiness I beheld face for the dead light is a foretelling of What will beI saw a soul drift from life, through death,
And arrive at Elysian fields in welcoming song
Yet I stand in a dusk-filled room despondently watching the passing of a kindred spirit and there is no song
Just a delusion of silence

Songwriters

CAVANAGH, DANIEL / CAVANAGH, VINCENT / DOUGLAS, JOHN JAMES / PATTERSON, DUNCAN

JOHNPublished by

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>