Fool For Love

Jonny Diaz

no i won?t be the first it?s been a beautiful curse since the day that love was formed can you see helen?s face though an outrageous case it was love that first launched the war and yet i?m dying to fight for a love that is right oh a love that would make me a fool in every sense of the word though it may sound absurd what a joy to be called that for you i?d be a fool for love cause that is what lovers do i would dance in the rain ?til i was called insane to prove that my love is true oh now i?ve spent my life in the pursuit of wise and it?s not like i?m stopping that now but i?m out of the box and i?m changing the locks cause a fool?s love is wisdom somehow and i?d serenade you in the night ?til i count every star in the sky and though others my stare well i don?t really care cause i?d be a fool for? you are worth ridicule it is so miniscule to a love that is true so set me on fire just to prove my desire to burn ever after for you

---

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/