The Son Is Mine

Impending Doom

Blind eyes and deaf ears
Are not welcome here
In my desperation
I'll fight for your affection
To set me apart
To find who I truly am
The son is mine
Power corrupts definitely
Conceit is a mask to insecurity
Your influence has been criticized
By friends and enemies
I know that no matter how many bridges I burn
How many lessons I never fully learn
Love is something all alone
I would never deserve
The son is mine
This is my confession of my troubled soul
Renew me
And make my eyes shine
The son is mine
This is a conflict of two natures
In my body
Is both evil and death who will set me free?
Power corrupts definitely
Conceit is a mask to insecurity
Your influence has been criticized
By friends and enemies
The sun never sets on my life
The son never sets
The son is mine for life
