

Don't Need You

The Mallett Brothers Band

Wasted on the highway, drivin' all alone
Things ain't going my way, so I'm drivin' back home
Days are going slow now, things they gone wrong
So I'm working on the know-how, tryin' to write a new song

Ah, but I'm so blue, blue blue, blue blue
Without you, you you, you you

But I don't need you
I'm gonna be alright without you
No I don't need you
I'm gonna be alright without you

Leaving on a Sunday, headed back down south
She told me that she loved me, then she kissed me on the mouth
Well, I'm gonna find me a railroad, one with steel like ice
I'm gonna sit down three times, I'm gonna stand up twice

'Cause all my boats, gone and sailed right out of the bay
Maybe 'cause all my ropes, gone and busted all away

But I don't need you
I'm gonna be alright without you
No I don't need you
I'm gonna be alright without you

Lyrics submitted by Will Mallett.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>