

Dead Man (feat. Michael McGough)

Wolves At The Gate

I was once a dead man
A stranger with no home
I stood opposed to God himself
And yet He pardoned meWith all my heart and the fiercest will Desired not but to thieve and kill
I hadn't a thought of peace, but war
Surrender was not what I'd endureI was a murderer filled with lies and deceit
Faced with my list of crimes that I would always repeatDeliver me! Wake me up from this damning sleep
I'm surrendering! Pull me out from this wickedness
In this thieving heart of stone
I realized all these sins I could not atoneI was a murderer filled with lies and deceit
Faced with my list of crimes that I would always repeatI was once a dead man
A stranger with no home
I stood opposed to God himself
And yet He pardoned meSo just at the right time when we were dead in our sins
You took this heart of mine and gave me life again
You gave me life again
This is where I beginSo far apart and a debt to fulfill
This purchase bought on redemption's hill
An ailing disease I couldn't cure
Oh this grace! How rich and pure!Abide in me, my God! I am found in You
Pardon me, my God! You know my deepest thoughts
Deliver me from sin! I am made anew
I'm surrendering this heart! For which your blood it boughtThe mob they yelled and screamed for justice
That wrath was ours we are to blame
You made a spectacle of rulers
Denying You of a king's fame
Having crushed the written cannon
That wrote of all our guilt and shame
Displayed upon the tree it was nailed
The saving power of Your nameFor I was once a dead man
A stranger with no home
You saw this wretch
And You gave him life
Forever I'll praise You!
I will praise You!
