Southern Skies (Unplugged In New Zealand)

Like a Storm

Set my compass home
And fire the footsteps on retrace
Cause everywhere I go
Brings me closer to this place.Cause everything I'm looking for
Is right back here where I belong
And everything I thought I'd lost
I found beneath this southern cross
Cause I've done a lot of wrong trying to make it right
Granted every last goodbye
But anything is possible here tonight
Underneath these southern skies.
It's always on my mind
This world that seems a world away
But I won't leave behind
These memories I would never change.Cause everything I'm looking for
Is right back here where I belong
And everything I thought I'd lost
I found beneath this southern cross
Cause I've done a lot of wrong trying to make it right
Granted very last goodbye
But anything is possible here tonight
Underneath these southern skies.And I feel alive
Feel alive
Tonight.
Everything I'm looking for
Is right back here where I belong
And everything I thought I'd lost
I found beneath this southern cross
'Cause I've done a lot of wrong trying to make it right
We granted every last goodbye
But anything is possible tonight
Underneath these southern skies
Underneath these skies
I feel alive.
