Pieces of You In Me

Poison the Well

and you never
and you never understand when you always when you always act the same oh beautiful your lips taste of red and copper and copper always excited meand you never
when you always act the sameI need to hear your laugh when I'm dying on the other line you perform better when I'm not near you and it cracks the world spins away I'm flying again
I can't believe that this is over again pieces will carry away pieces of you in me
