

Wouldn't It Be Nice to Be Proud

Evan & Jaron

Now I've found a little time to take a look back
From the caboose and follow the tracks of my life
They're tangled about lyin' true And I know it's just me, my point of view
Those are the important too
I don't need to check with the crowd Wouldn't it be nice to be proud? A door was open into the night
I jumped through and turned on the light
I started to see though it wasn't that bright I saw an island sky but it wasn't all blue
My answers weren't right but I didn't wanna lose
So I'd put up a fight and screamed out loud Wouldn't it be nice to be proud? And when it all is clear
Your time to repair disappears
Taking with it chances left untried I see my friend huddled together
Tryin' to stay warm in nasty weather
We'd beat the odds whenever they'd call And all the jokes that I played on my friends
Never did get me in the end
I guess I was given more than allowed Wouldn't it be nice to be proud? And when it all is clear
Your time to repair disappears
