

A Boy Named Hue

Huey Mack

    Somethings gonna change I know it will
        To erase the pain, I pop these pills
        I do so much that it dont seem real
            To hide the way I really feel
            They dont give me a handling
    So what am I gonna have when Im at the end
        Wheres my fam all I have is my friends
        I dont know my dad but Im just like him
    My mama told me to learn from all of her stories
        But instead I just I sit and think in
        I just drink down all these 40s
        Hoping thats gonna cure it all, all
        All I needs a little more alcohol
            Pack above, down the loose
            Then I might feel tough
            [Chorus]
    They say everything gonn happen for a reason
        Im just hoping things gonn happen for me
        While Im looking for something to believe in
            Im hoping they believein in me
        And I dont know where all this gonn go
    Im just praying that Ill never loose control, oh, oh, oh
        And one day everything will come through
    And youll all know the story of a boy, a boy named Hue
        Tryna find the real in all this fiction and fake
            Gossip and hate, but listen, fuck you
            Im gonna choose my own faith
            Cause I aint got none but a wild ass dream
            That me and my team well one day be kings
                Be on big screens, have fans scream
                Have model bitch skin all on my jeans
            Ima have everything but thats just a hunch
                No more jokes, Im not no
                Ima have any chick that I want
                Fuck actress, hoes like you
            Ima work my ass up, cause Ill only get this once
                Learn to do it on my own
                Cause I aint come from a grady bunch
                [chorus]

They say everything gonn happen for a reason
Im just hoping things gonn happen for me
While Im looking for something to believe in
Im hoping they believein in me
And I dont know where all this gonn go
Im just praying that Ill never loose control, oh, oh, oh
And one day everything will come through

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>