

Open Your Eyes

12 Stones

When I look into your eyes, I see a lot of hate
Pushing me away, you're haunted by a past
A past that brings you down, so you throw it all away again
Just try to find a place deep within your soul
And don't deny the child living deep inside
Open your eyes and find, this life's better than you know
It's in your hands now, just open up your eyes
Deep inside of your mind, you're forced to believe
That nothing's gonna change, so I take you by the hand
And I lead you to a place, a place of happiness like this
