Eric Prydz

All of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't createAll of the love we generate
The only thing that carries me on
There's nothing we need that it can't create
