

Push Me Away

Hawthorne Heights

The twists and turns that brought us here
Will mend our swollen hearts
Pull the stitches from our skin
The scars show who we are
Black as cold as the undertow
Weighs down our heavy heads
This lonely road that leads to home
Might bring us to our death Push me away
Hide me in the closet
If you're afraid of who I am
Who are you to push me away
Hide me in the closet
If you're afraid of who I am
Who are you to push me away
Rusted blades disintegrate
The words that matter most
You always swallow bitter pills
From the ones you hold so close Push me away
Hide me in the closet
If you're afraid of who I am
Who are you to push me away
Hide me in the closet
If you're afraid of who I am
Who are you to push me away For all of those that hate this Hate this if you will
I can't do much to change you
But this is how I feel
Tomorrow comes sunrise
I'll still be who I am
And you'll just be in danger
'Cause you'll never understand
Push me away
Hide me in the closet
If you're afraid of who I am
Who are you to push me away
Hide me in the closet
If you're afraid of who I am
Who are you to push me away Push me away
Push me away

Push me away
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>