Queens

MisterWives

Stoop livin' was a heaven that we fit in Summer sun, we would run far away from our fears
Waiting for the train in the winter
Couldn't hide and our trees were frozen tiersMama said she'd always keep us warm
Roof over our head, even though it was tornMy Queens is a queen
Not talking bright lights and shiny things
But we always made it work
Building castles out of dirt
My home is a throne
Not very pretty, but tough as stone
And we always made it work
No matter how much it did hurtBought my first keys at fifteen
Not for a car, play my songs at every shitty drive wall
Big dreams in the biggest city
She don't care if you ever make it farMama said, "Don't ever lose sight.
Stay true to your voice inside."My Queens is a queen
Not talking bright lights and shiny things
But we always made it work
Building castles out of dirt
My home is a throne
Not very pretty, but tough as stone
And we always made it work
No matter how much it did hurtBut we all lift each other up
Learn to shake the demons off
Conquer all this world throws at us
'Cause love is strong enough [x2]My Queens is a queen
Not talking bright lights and shiny things
But we always made it work
Building castles out of dirt
My home is a throne
Not very pretty, but tough as stone
And we always made it work
No matter how much it did hurtBut we all lift each other up
Learn to shake the demons off
Conquer all this world throws at us
'Cause love is strong enough [x2]
