Things Start Moving

Adolescents

Things start moving that never did before
The blue, purple drag ones have me rolling on the floor
I look the other way and I see a cat-fight
But I don't mind 'cause I'll be flying for the rest of the nightThings start moving but tell me what happens
When everything around me starts laughing
Things start moving and they never will again
But now I need to know where last night was spentThings start moving and they never will again
The windowpanes open and close, my head's in a spin
Red and blue flashes from cars black and white
Point guns at the rocket for speeding 85Things start moving but tell me what happens
When everything around me starts laughing
Things start moving and they never will again
But now I need to know where last night was spentThings started disappearing and to re-arrange
[Incomprehensible] is with his wizard's wand and another change
Trolley car makes a turn and now we're lost
Foot by foot another great trip, never want to stop
