

This Car

The Ding-Dongs

Two kids holding hands in the driveway dreaming 'bout where to go
Ten miles out of town on the highway, Petty on the radio
You'd do anything to make me laugh
Yeah there's no wonder why I fell so fast

From the first time you opened the door
Well it felt like the beginning of something more
When this love, this love
Was nothing but a spark
And the dashboard has seen every kiss
And every downpour, every we're gonna make it through this
I know I'm home
No matter where we are
Me and you and
This car, this car,
This car, this car

Five years in the blink of an eye still smiling cause you're next to me
We fought, made up, got lost, made love in the back seat
So many stories in this steel and glass
Yeah there's no wonder why we fell so fast

From the first time you opened the door
Well it felt like the beginning of something more
When this love, this love
Was nothing but a spark
And the dashboard has seen every kiss
And every downpour, every we're gonna make it through this
I know I'm home
No matter where we are
Me and you and
This car, this car,
This car, this car
This car, this car,
This car

It's all I need
Baby I'll go anywhere just you and me
And this car, this car,
This car, this car

This car, this car

From the first time you opened the door
Well it felt like the beginning of something more
When this love, this love
And the dashboard has seen every kiss
And every downpour, every we're gonna make it through this
I know I'm home
No matter where we are
Me and you and
This car, this car,
This car, this car,
This car, this car,
This car

This car, this car,
This car, this car,
This car, this car,
This car
