Disappearing Act

7 Blue Skies

Jet black fought back at the blink of an eye
Too young, too proud and never short on words
Another riddle without a solution
Waiting for his chance to start
A revolving chain of complications, affirmations
Passing blame
If you're so confident then tell meDoes it make your heart grow fonder watching all your glory fade?
Can you taste it on your lip as you turn your head and walk away?You swore you'd never let yourself believe
There was anything out there you couldn't reach
And like a skyscraper you stood tall
While the rest of the world was waiting for you to slip under Well hey Houdini is that you I see?
Carpet pulled from beneath you
Another house of cards caves in
Again and again and againDoes it make your heart grow fonder watching all your glory fade?
Can you taste it on your lip as you turn your head and walk away?
I know that it's harder to breathe knowing that you had it made
Walk away but don't disappear on me
Don't disappear on meThe sweat on your palms will predict the disaster
Grinding your teeth and your heart's beating like a drum
Trembling hand, the show time suspense
I've lost it by now, you'll be thrown out of thisDoes it make your heart grow fonder watching all your glory fade?
Can you taste it on your lip as you turn your head and walk away?
I know that it's harder to breathe knowing that you had it made
Walk away but don't disappear on me
Don't disappear on me
