

I've Been Sober

Devildriver

Lord I miss the highway, running against the wind
Blessed are the stoned, and all the places they've been Shadow of a man at home, beating a dead horse
Home too long, cross to bear Methods of the past mold the future
You can't fall short as you get older
Being run around is being trapped
Seized up, kept Wear the chains you forged in life
Link by link by link
Wear the chains you forged in life
Link by link by link I've been sober thirteen days and seven nights
I know next time I'll get it right
You tried to make me stay, I said, "No way"
Grabbed my bag and hit the highway Echoes in the dark, new faces bring the sun
Comfort and disturbed, always think the worst
You live and die by your own decisions
You live and die by your own religion Being run around is being trapped
Seized up, kept Wear the chains you forged in life
Link by link by link
Wear the chains you forged in life
Link by link by link I've been sober thirteen days and seven nights
I know next time I'll get it right
You tried to make me stay, I said, "No way"
Grabbed my bag and hit the highway I've been sober thirteen days and seven nights
I know next time I'll get it right
You tried to make me stay, I said, "No way"
Grabbed my bag and hit the highway Sobriety suits you so well, it suits you so well
It suits you so well, it suits you so well
It suits you so well, so well Suits you so well, suits you so well
Suits you so well, suits you so well
Suits you so well, suits you so well

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>