Sleep

Ari Herstand

Slipped out of bed
Six in the morning
Im all out of dreams 4 hours ago I went to sleep feeling the morning will bring peaceHere I melt another day another way holding just warming your heart as you sleepFrost has begun on time as scheduled I thought this year might be a change
The presence of winter burns through my finger touching the window sills glassHere I melt another day another way holding just warming your heart as you sleepFirst night in ages I dreamed of the places you and I will travel in time Who you are Im not sure but that doesnt matter
When were old well both feel the sameHere I melt another day another way holding just warming your heart as you sleepSun has now seeped right through my window
The frost has left a light glow Inches from simple
Miles from smiles
I sit staring hopelessly and waitHere I melt another day another way holding just warming your heart as you sleepI wont let goSleepWere all aloneSleep
