Sirens

Tristania

He couldnt get out of bed in the morning
He thought it was just a drag
So into his hollow mind he was calling, into his hollow mind
March on you fools and keep the line
March on you fools dont fall behindFrom the distance through the silence
If you listen you hear sirensOutside my window they walk in a line
Asking no questions and reading no signsWhere there is smoke there might be fire
No kiss goodnight
From the distance through the silence
If you listen you hear sirensOutside my window they walk in a line
Asking no questions and reading no signs
They built a wall for me
What will life ever be but blue light from the screen
What will life ever be but fakeWall of silence
Silent is the nightMarch on you fools and keep the line
March on you fools dont fall behindI see the Columbine clouds on the sky
Passing above me they drift through the night
They built this world you see and made me enemies
Beside the dull routines what will life ever be but waste
