

The Ones Forgotten by the One Forgetting

The Color Morale

All these voices in my head I'll never know just what I'll feel let alone what will be said We all forget the things we say but we never forget how we felt when we let ourselves feel One head so many voices Maybe I'll spend my whole life licking wounds My tongue feels like it's got two jobs to twist and say shit I don't need to And to come between my stomach and my head separate, which one of you do I listen to?
Parts of me miss pieces of you Oh all these voices in my head
