

Hurt

Everfound

When hurt has come and left you broken
And you hold faith with trembling hands
I hear the question as your heartache
Turns to heart break
Am I the God who understands?

'Cause I've walked in your shoes
And I've got the scars to prove

Every single tear you cry I've cried
Every single dark and lonely night
I've been there
I've been scared, you're not alone
I feel your hurt

You pray for freedom from this suffering
You pray relief from all this pain
And if you find no easy answer
Just remember
There was a night I prayed the same

Yeah I've walked in your shoes
And I've got the scars to prove, oh

Every single tear you cry I've cried
Every single dark and lonely night
I've been there
I've been scared, you're not alone
I feel your hurt

In the middle of your night, just call
You can run to me, I've felt it all
I've been there
I've been scared, you're not alone

Take a look at my scars
See the wound in my side, it's real
So wherever you are
I am never too far to feel

Every single tear you cry
Every single lonely night
I've been there
I've been scared, you're not alone

In the middle of your night, just call
You can run to me, I've felt it all
I've been there
I've been scared, you're not alone
I feel your hurt
I feel your hurt
I feel your hurt
