

Not So Clever Now

Thea Gilmore

I dont know
I dont know
I dont know what it was that was making me
Curl up in the corner and be secondary to you I can see
I can see
I can see that these lies are a soul disease
And your emotional coffin is warping at the seams And hey Mr. not so clever now
What have you created?
Just look into this face and
Tell me you hate it
You hate it Break the wall
Break my face
Break the double personality
The dual control I used to see in me And it all
Yes it all
Yeah it all came down to geometry
All the points and lines that made up you and me And hey Mr. not so clever now
What have you created?
Just look into this face and
Tell me you hate it
And hey Mr. not so clever now
What have you created?
Just look into this face and
Tell me you hate it
Tell me you hate it Well, overruled
Overtime
Over everything else this belief in self
Is shaking you when your ego hits the floor Can you see?
Can you breathe?
Can you walk towards that open door?
Cos all Ive ever crossed my fingers for is here And hey Mr. not so clever now
What have you created?
Just look into this face and
Tell me you hate it
And hey Mr. not so clever now
What are you afraid of?
Just look into these eyes and
Tell me you hate them
Tell me you hate them

Tell me, tell me, tell me And you are not that clever now
