The Skull

The Haunted

Easy now, don't give yourself away
Don't let them know you're breaking
These are wolves
And they carry no sympathiesDon't look down
These are but minor details
Hopefully they'll keep you aliveDon't let them see you breaking
Achieve to justify pearls before swineNo more hesitation, no more slipping away
No more waiting for a loving graceYou will crawl, let's not get personal
You will serve an example to others
A skull at the gates to mark who's kingTo stare the naked truth in the eyes
And not lose grip on sanityWe learn from falling down
A willingness grows from defeat
To mock the ordinary punk
And see if you still got it in youDid you cry? I wept like a child
In final acceptance to my own mortality
Fuck your pride, it will be your downfallEasy now, go lightly these are tricky times
We don't need much fuel to feed the fireNo more hesitation, no more slipping away
No more waiting for a loving graceEasy now, go lightly these are tricky times
We don't need much fuel to feed the fire
