

Unmistakable

In Tall Buildings

When we dream, glass sun
And when we spar, you run
    Not to turn around and
        Feign a smile
    We start to kiss and I run
        And all around this town
        Across the sky and the land
And over us the machines are about
    And your hard time leaks out
        It's unmistakable
        I understand
        The sea will take a toll
        Then you hit land
    When we dream, glass sun
        And when we spar, you run
And your heart pointed back towards ill-desire
    When you cry, why lie
        It's unmistakable
        I understand
        The sea will take a toll
        Then you hit land
        It's unmistakable
        It's a likely plan now
        The sea's unreachable
        Then you hit land
