

In the Morning

Wolfmother

When you wake up in the morning and look into her eyes
And everything you're dreaming of is far beyond the skies

I believe we're going on into the open void

Far across the sky never wondering whyOh, my little girl

Look into the other side and you'll find the timeEverybody's got a story, everybody's got their own
Do you feel any better when you find you're not alone?

As you lay on down and look into the sun

And you see somebody that reminds you of where you're coming fromOh, my little girl

Look into the other side and you'll find you've begunNever have I felt like this before

Though sometimes, well, I've seen an opening door

Just like a stone until it's thrown

Listen to the tone where the truth can make itself knownSaid the sun to the mountainside

You will never find 'til you try

All their words cut like a knife

You're gonna have to stand up sometimeWondering how did it all ever turn out this way?

Even those who stand so tall can no longer say

Anytime you've fallen down, anytime you're far away

May you never need to justify, everybody's got their own wayLook into the other side and you'll find you've begunNever have I felt like this before

Though sometimes, well, I've seen an opening door

And everywhere you look, when you look into the book

Well, I can't believe that you've never been here beforeSaid the sun to the mountainside

You will never find 'til you try

You're gonna have to stand up sometime
