

She Breaks Like A Morning Sky

Pavlov's Dog

Well, close the door and grab your wraps
And don't even say why
There's a girl outside the door
With the moon and the stars in her eyes
You gotta be quick, you gotta be cool
You know what I mean
So grab your keys and grab your jeans
'Cause she's waiting outside for me Ooh, over and over again
Ooh, over and over And you know it feels alright
And you know as well as I
And you know is when she cries
She breaks like a morning sky
Now honey, dance the night away
I don't know where she came from
Or how long she can stay
All I know is she's mine tonight
And I don't know how long you can last now, baby Ooh, over and over again
Ooh, over and over And you know is it feels alright
And you know as well as I
And you know is when she smiles
She breaks like a morning sky
Now honey, dance the night away Ooh, over and over again
Ooh, over and over
And you know it feels alright
And you know as well as I
And you know is when she smiles
She breaks like a morning sky
Well, then dance the night away

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>