

Tired of "Me"

Live

You say, "Hold on to the reigns"
I say, "Let them go tonight"
My brain waves confused between what is and ain't
She cries, "Groundless and free" Tired of the water, tired of the wine
Tired of the future, tired of time
Tired of the madness, tired of the steel
Tired of the violence, tired of me Used steel, used steel am I
What was pliable in love is now hard and crystallized
The intellect is fine for counting money and recalling times
That she cried, "Groundless and free" Tired of the water, tired of the wine
Tired of the future, tired of time
Tired of the madness, tired of the steel
Tired of the violence, tired of me, tired of me Oh, oh yeah, I'm so tired of time
And I'm so tired of the wine
And I'm so tired of time
And I'm so tired of the wine, yeah And hope is a letter that never arrives
Delivered by the postman of my fear You say, "Hold on to the reigns"
I say, "Let them go tonight"
My brain waves confused between what is and ain't
She cries, "Groundless and free" Tired of the water, tired of the wine
Tired of the future, tired of time
I am tired of the madness, tired of the steel
Tired of the violence, tired of me Tired of me, tired of me
Tired of me, tired, tired of me
