Walk Away

No Address

Your brown eyes are so wicked, the sky is yellow
The ocean fell asleep with one hefty bellow
Could you love me each and every day?
You sulk right past the boardwalk and I come follow
I know that I am not your one only fella
Could you love me each and every day?
Could you love me each and every day?
You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know
You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know
We coughed our love into the sun
The sea all bent right as we drown
You should walk away from me right now
I wear no shirt, your short skirt has me all jealous
I hope it rains on you I stole your umbrella
Could you love me each and every day?
Could you love me each and every day?
You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know
You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know
We coughed our love into the sun
The sea all bent right as we drown

You should walk away from me right now, now
Could you love me each and every day?
Could you love me each and every day?
Could you love me each and every day?
Could you love me each and every day?
You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know
You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know
We coughed our love into the sun
The sea all bent right as we drown
You should walk away from me right now
You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know

You should walk away from me right now
Just go ahead and walk away from me I know
We coughed our love into the sun
The sea all bent right as we drown
You should walk away from me right now
You should walk away from me right now
You should walk away from me right now
Down, now now now now
You should walk away from me right now
You should walk away from me
You should walk away from me right now
Hey now now
