

Songsmith

Magellan

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

A writer like a blacksmith-forging works of iron
The jagged edges tempered into solid scripts for hire
Solitary craftsman at his console merging audio discrete
An ever changing soundscape sets the stage; the twains shall meet
In a union strongJust like a working stiff
He is a songsmith
In a strange synthesis
"restoration" announced

It's the new riffs that count (no mainstream bore playing 13/4...)Break out of silence-complete the curve
The songsmith maintaining his avant-garde nerve

Innovation his palette-the urge and the test
Adrenalin flowing, he can't even rest unless-
Harmonic elements and special fx
Conform to all his whims, an interpretive text
But he'd sing for the masses if he just had the time
With a vocal ideal and a long lyric line

He is a songsmithBreak out of silence-complete the curve
The songsmith maintaining his avant-garde nerve

Innovation his palette-the urge and the test
Adrenalin flowing, he can't even rest unless-

Harmonic elements and special effectsConform to all his whims, an interpretive text
And he'd sing for the media if he had equal time
With a vocal ideal and a long lyric line

He is a songsmith

It's not too late for the songsmithThe curtain opens for creativity

Give a backseat role to conspiracy
Hear the signature and the melody
Of the author flow in polyphony
Will the writer last?
Will his trade survive?
In a world of commerce
Can he hope to thrive?

If his final sequence is not contrived
Keep him honest now
Just to keep him aliveWe need the songsmith...

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>