I Believe

Abra Moore

Where is the laughter, where is the hopeful?

Where is that light that makes me sing?

Where is the courage, where is the faithful?

Where is that wind beneath my high wings? I cant get it back, my heart beat's flat

The colors black, I dont feel like I used to

When somethings that wrong, gotta make it right

When my day is so long, I gotta make it rightAnd I know that its got to be me that changes

And I know that its got to be me that makes it

'Cause I believe, I believe

(I believe, I believe)

I believe, I believe

(I believe, I believe)Could you give me an answer, could you give me a sign?

God, dont let these monsters make up my mind

You know what Im after

Its gonna just take some timeI know that its got to be me that changes

And I know that its got to be me that makes it

'Cause I believe, I believe

(I believe, I believe)

I believe, I believe

(I believe, I believe)I believe, I believe

(Where is the laughter, where is the hopeful?

Where is that light that makes me sing?)

I believe, I believe

(Where is the courage, where is the faithful?

Where is that wind beneath my wings?)I believe

(I cant get it back, my heart beat's flat)

In love

Yeah, I believe its worth fighting for
