

Rejected

Rancid

i could not fit in i was the one who got caught i was the one who got realized i was the one who got dropped shut out banished and locked away the knife that did me in i was carry to this day
rejected
crossing the bridges in the land of the forgotten
rejected
distrust existed that i never saw deep seated trust i was a victim of
rejected... unspoken among the more peiveliged or the so called i was not good enough not good enough at all at first out of lonliness i tried to conform but all that bullshit left me alone
