Numerous Murders

Park

All night long, I am watching you connect
The gaps and cracks which make me famous
I'll pull this knot out from my throat
Recite the reasons how not to choke
(You are the one that keeps me far from asking)Just sit back, try not to react to the tone
You use that makes me kill us
You cut the ropes that make me slack
And free the tension around my neck
(You are the one that keeps me far from asking)(Breathing, believing)
An unexpected expectancy, an ending an opening
A catch phrase uncaught but still complete
A smile and a grin, the perfect moment
The bitter endFar from now
You will hear me say, "I'm addicted to the sleep you're taking
I'll cut my throat to make this right
And bleed all the words I've left inside"
(You are the one that keeps me far from asking)All this talk has given in to ache from the noise
You use that makes me jealous
I'll cut my throat to make this right
And bleed all the words I've left inside
(You are the one that keeps me far from asking)(Breathing, believing)
An unexpected expectancy, an ending an opening
A catch phrase uncaught but still complete
A smile and a grin, the perfect moment
The bitter endFree the tension around my neck
Bleed all the words I've left inside
Free the tension bleed all the words I've left inside
Bleed all the words around my neck(Breathing, believing)
An unexpected expectancy, an ending an opening
A catch phrase uncaught but still complete
A smile and a grin, the perfect moment
The bitter end

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/