Time and Again

Coward, Noel

The sun brought me, the moon caught me
The wind fought me, the rain got me
The road sent me, for years bent me
The stars overwhelmed me time and again
But now I can't see the stars
The star is a thing I can't see
And now I don't feel the same
To feel is a thing that can't be
Earth crushed me, fame brushed me
The streets hushed me as life touched me
Time placed me, events dazed me
Love saved me now and again
But now there can be no love
Love is a thing that can't be
And now there can be no trust
Trust is a thing I can't see
But now there can be no love
Love is a thing that can't be
Now I can't be so strong
Strong is a thing I can't be
Time and again, time and again
The sun brought me
