

Time Machine (Wayne's World Version)

Black Sabbath

Oh, what are you gonna do
When there's a part of you
That needs to run with the wind And the fire of burning yesterdays
Can only light the way
To lead you from
The garden of the dark Stay out of shadows now
Looks like the change is on
Tomorrow's never gone
Today just never comes Go on and jump, yeah
Into the hurricane
You will forget the pain
It's only there to exorcise your mind Looking at the world
When you've open up your eyes
You've got to see the promises they've made
They're bloody lies and broken dreams
Your silence screams You're living in a time machine
And you can choose just who you are
Someone that you've never seen
Somewhere you've never been
You're living in a time machine Oh, what are you gonna do
When every part of you
Just needs to catch the wind And the fire of burning yesterdays
Can only light the way
To lead you from
The garden of the dark Looking for the world
When you've opened up your eyes
You'll see you've got invisible chains
They're only lies, not what it seems
And I hear your silent screams You're living in a time machine
Nobody cares just where you go
Taken where you've never been Making for somewhere you don't know You're living in a time machine
Why do you stay who you are
Be what you've never been
Someone you've never seen
You're living in a time machine, yeah
