

Wirethrone

Solution .45

One night
I found what was missing
The thread that attaches
    Us all together
Without us knowing
    Our nexus
By this we stand parted
    We challenge
What we do not know
These mindless masses
    Will now take us
For a journeyNowhere fast to the end
    Let nothing lasting remain
        Ripping the wires,
        From failing structures
And build my self againOne night
    I found what was missing
    The thread that attaches
        Us all together
        Without us knowing
        Our nexus[Chorus:]
    I have never been
        Alive like this
    The strings attached
    I will make my own
        I have never been
        Alive like this
        Behold my legacy
    I have built a wirethrone
My wirethroneMy wirethroneOne too many times
    I have failed to answer
To your questions whyHere on my throne of scorn
    Concealed walls cannot hide
        I have torn out,
        All that supports me
To never be whole againThe more I am straining,
    The less I attain
        What has been built,
        All in vain

The more I am gaining,
The less I sustain
Another wellspring to drain[Chorus]My wirethroneThe more I am straining,
The less I attain
What has been built,
All in vain
The more I am gaining,
The less I sustain
Another wellspring to drain[Chorus x2]

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>