

Unknown Land

Oh Susanna

Lay down sleepy head
Rest your weary head
Tomorrow you give yourself away
You know, now what will be
Stop trying so hard to see
Something you find along the way
In an unknown land
Upon which you shall stand
Forge a path that is your own
Don't be afraid to fail
To be we could, to be fail
And though your heart is always home
Girl, my girl
Rest before the dawn begins to break
Girl, my girl
You will be the one to find your way
Across the rocky shield
To the wind the branches yield
Their arms waving to the sun
Dance of the old Jack Pine
Roots and rock and twine
So strong it will not be undone
Now when do you use your wings
To be carried by the winds
I know your hooks are deep as dawn
Girl, my girl
Rest before the dawn begins to break
Girl, my girl
You will be the one to find your way
Girl, my girl
Rest before the dawn begins to break
Girl, my girl
You will be the one to find your way
You will be the one to find your way
You will be the one, you will be the one
You will be the one to find your way
Lay down sleepy head
Rest your weary head
Tomorrow you give yourself away

Lyrics provided by
<https://damlyrics.com/>