A Mere Accident

Slow Coming Day

shutting my eyes i can see what is right infront of me a twisting calidascope in my hand off all the things we left unsaidif could make the world go away if i could make it all dissapearejust as memories relapse, incased in a mirror glass the leaves are falling times have changed repatitions are rearanged they rearanged if i could make the world go away if i could make it all dissapear make it all
make it all, dissapearnow its time to fade away now its time to fade away
