I Let Go

Eighteen Visions

Could you, maybe, stop this from happening?
I know it hurts but you don't have to walk awayI don't know why, I want to stop myself from feeling low
I don't know why, lies know my name and lies I show
I don't know why, I want to stop myself from feeling low
I don't know why, I don't know why I even tryI can't be that way when my life looks this gray so I let go
I let goI don't know why, I want to stop myself from feeling low
I don't know why, lies know my name and lies I show
I don't know why, I want to stop myself from feeling low
I don't know why, I don't know why I even tryI can't be that way when my life looks this gray so I let go
I let go
I can't be that way when my life looks this gray so I let go
I let goI've got to leave it alone this time or wallow in my mind
I've got to leave it alone this time or wallow in my mind
I've got to leave it alone, I've got to leave it alone
I've got to leave it alone, I've got to leave it aloneI can't be that way when my life looks this gray so I let go
I let go
I don't understand why clouds sit on my head, it looks like rain
I feel shameI can't be that way when my life looks this gray so I let go
I let go
I don't understand why clouds sit on my head, it looks like rain
I feel shameI can't be that way when my life looks this gray so I let go
I let go
I don't understand why clouds sit on my head, it looks like rain
