

To All the Girls Who Cry

The Secret Sisters

When he makes a promise
That he doesn't mean to keep
It burns like a flame inside
It's alright to spend your night
In tears 'til the fire dies
For now your hope is fading
For now your light is dim
You are not the first or last of weeping over him
You are not alone
And this is a song
To all of the girls who cry
To all of the girls who cry
When his words are bitter
And when he goes too far
And he places the blame on you
When this is your low
I've travelled that same road
As one of the girls who cry
I'm sorry that your eyes are red
I'm sorry you feel blue
You will find in perfect time someone to cherish you
Let it take how long it takes and soon it will subside
For you are the girls who cry
For you are the girls who cry
You are not alone
And this is a song
To all of the girls who cry
To all of the girls who cry
